FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New York, NY, November 28, 2011—Media Source, Inc., announced today that Rebecca T. Miller, currently Executive Editor of Features for Library Journal, has been named Editor-in-Chief of School Library Journal, effective December 15, 2011.

In announcing the promotion, Ian Singer, Media Source VP and Group Publisher said, “We’re very pleased to have Rebecca as our new Editor-in-Chief at SLJ. We had quite a number of candidates to consider, but with the knowledge, experience, and creativity she’ll bring to the position, I’m confident SLJ is in the right hands. Her leadership will be welcomed as SLJ continues to evolve and grow into a true multimedia information resource.”

With a background in journalism that began at the Utne Reader, Miller joined Library Journal in 1998 as a book review editor and rose quickly. “I’m thrilled with the opportunity to work with the great staff at SLJ. They’ve had some wonderful successes, and I know we’ll have an exciting future together.” Miller replaces long-time SLJ Editor-in-Chief Brian Kenney, who left last October to accept a position as Director of White Plains Public Library in White Plains, NY.

ABOUT SCHOOL LIBRARY JOURNAL

School Library Journal is the most influential publication serving libraries—the largest market for new children’s and young adult books—and is the only full-service publication serving the youth and school library market. It reaches over 35,000 elementary, middle/junior, and senior high school librarians and youth service librarians in public libraries. SLJ educates its readers to become leaders in technology, reading, and information literacy.
